Foreword

Leo Clancy,
Chief Executive Officer, Enterprise Ireland

At Enterprise Ireland, our mission is to help accelerate the development of world-class Irish companies to achieve leading positions in global markets.

It has never been more important, to champion the courage and ambition of Irish founders and their hard-working teams, as their spirit and drive are the cornerstones of our local and national economies.

In 2021, Enterprise Ireland supported 82 new High Potential Start-Ups (HPSUs) through investments of more than €18m and other non-financial supports, and 24 of these were led by female entrepreneurs.

Also in 2021, we supported 43 pre-seed companies through the Competitive Start Fund (CSF), and 16 of these were female-led. The strong eco-system here that fosters these start-ups is vital and last year, 11 of our HPSUs emerged from academic research, a key part of this eco-system.

International business increasingly turns to Ireland for solutions as our nation has earned a strong reputation globally as being a world leader for a number of sectors. We drive this agenda through our 40 overseas offices and the teams of local and global Market Advisors who work on behalf of our clients to help create opportunities.

As part of our new strategy, 'Leading in a Changing World', we have committed to further accelerating entrepreneurship in Ireland. Challenges and opportunities exist for Irish entrepreneurs, and Enterprise Ireland is focused on finding solutions to allow more people to start, grow and scale Irish businesses. This will be supported through a number of initiatives, including the new €90m Irish Innovation Seed Fund programme launched by the Government earlier this year, which will support innovative, early-stage companies working in a number of strategic targeted areas, such as life sciences, Fintech and women-led enterprises.

We have ambitious targets for the next few years, and we will work to increase the number of new entrepreneurs, fast growing start-ups and HPSUs across the regions. By 2024, we're targeting support to 450 early-stage companies, an increase of 20 per cent on 2021 levels. We are also targeting a 10 per cent increase in the number of companies achieving sales of over €10m.

We believe access to leadership and development training resources is a key element in supporting companies on their scaling journey, so as part of our strategy we have set a target of supporting 1,000 leaders and managers on significant management development programmes, with at least 30 per cent participation by women, by 2024.

The Start-Up Showcase is about you, the entrepreneurs and founders whose imagination, bravery and tenacity is so intrinsic to our future economic growth, and the incredible teams you are building. I wish you the best and thank you for your contribution to Enterprise Ireland's Start-Up Showcase 2022.

Leo Clancy
Chief Executive Officer
